

Hey Mom? Do you know my rights?

Click your state below to get a copy
Available in a number of languages

Procedural Safeguards:

At least one time a year, the parents of a child with a disability must receive from the school system a complete explanation of all the procedural safeguards available to them, as parents, under IDEA. This explanation is called the "Procedural Safeguards Notice."

All Parents and Guardian, are entitled to information about your rights under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA).

These safeguards are designed to protect the rights of parents and their child with a disability and, at the same time, give families and school systems several mechanisms by which to resolve their disputes.

As Specialized Instructional providers working in the educational setting, it is important you are aware of parents' rights. Most states have this available in many languages so you can easily print and give to parents.

If you have not had a conversation with your district Special Ed adviser, do so soon so you can be proactive as to who and when annually the district wants to share this information with the families of your students.

Test Your Knowledge:

True or False:

3) According to evidence presented in our research published by a number of authors (Ertmer & Ertmer, 1998; Shriberg et al, 1994; Shriberg et al, 1997 ; Koegel & Koegel, 1998), _____% accuracy in conversation across Lsh997

